

Proven Motorsports Cooling Technology Platform Available for Partnership, Licensing, or Acquisition

Confidential Motorsports Technology Platform

Location:

United States

A proven motorsports cooling technology platform, developed and validated over multiple years in professional racing environments, is now available for strategic partnership, licensing, or potential acquisition.

The platform is well-positioned for integration into an established organization seeking to expand or accelerate capabilities in thermal management and airflow systems.

Key Highlights:

- Multi-year R&D and product development across motorsports applications
- Validated performance in demanding racing environments
- Applications include airflow optimization and high-efficiency thermal management solutions, incorporating advanced brushless motor technology for demanding motorsports environments.
- Designed for integration into racing platforms and OEM-level programs
- Scalable architecture adaptable across multiple vehicle segments

This opportunity is well-suited for motorsports suppliers, performance engineering firms, or OEMs seeking to expand or accelerate capabilities in thermal management and airflow systems.

Confidential discussions are welcomed with qualified parties.